100 STORIES

AUDIENCE: 12+

DURATION: 60 min

GENRE: Community engagement singing project and choral performance

DELIVERY: The House will design delivery of this project in consultation with the presenter.

100 Women 100 Stories is an uplifting choral celebration of women's stories! Sung by up to 100 women from across your region, it was written by 6 female Australian composers and inspired by interviews with 100 women from across the country.

During the 2020 lockdowns, The House That Dan Built spoke to 100 women from around Australia. They shared stories of resilience, connection to community, and reflections on their lives.

The recorded interviews were given to six award-winning Australian female composers who turned them into 60 minutes of spirited and poignant choral music.

100 WOMEN 100 STORIES brings women from your region together to breathe life into these harmonies, culminating in an epic performance.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

This incredible community engagement experience can be performed by a minimum of 8 and up to 100 women from your community. Danielle O'Keefe from The House will provide an unparalleled opportunity for up to 100 women to join forces, gain vocal training and take part in an extraordinary experience. The intensive rehearsal period and “hub and spoke” touring model allows women from different towns in the region to be involved, and even bring the performance to the “spoke” towns in a mini tour of the region.

PARTICIPANT RESPONSE- SYDNEY, 2023

“Congratulations on the huge success of ‘100 Women, 100 Stories’! I was blown away by the organisation, talent and pure passion to uplift women and girls through music. As a midwife and academic, I strive to provide woman-centred care and act to empower the next generation of midwifery students at UTS. So often women’s voices are not heard, but that is changing thanks to projects like yours. I have come back to work this week completely elated and ready to change the world”

- Loretta

“It was the most extraordinary experience to be part of your 100 Women. 100 Stories. You and your team were remarkable with the organisation & vision of the weekend... everything was so seamless, inspirational & extraordinary. It was also fascinating to meet some of the remarkable 100 Woman that were involved with singing too – it was such an interesting group of people.

Certainly, the family and friends of mine who were there were moved and full of adoration of the event. The House that Dan Built is extraordinary – the power of music and song is often so understated but should never be overlooked.”

- Sarah

PARTICIPANT RESPONSE DENILIQUIN 2023

“I felt like I was paying homage to my brave, broken, beautiful female ancestors, and by doing so - that I was somehow passing on their wisdom and protection to my own kind, wise, incredible, daughter and onto my funny, sweet & feisty little granddaughter. It was bonding, swirling and enthralling and I will never forget the magic of it. Thank you Danielle for giving us all such a moment in time.”

- Kate

“It was wonderful to be singing again. Great to sing in a group and to have a group leader who was so positive. Dan was so welcoming and had such positive energy when conducting.”

- Claire

“The most joyous and unexpected wonderful experience I have had for years. You have motivated me to start singing again!!!”

- Kerry-Anne

“I was impressed and moved by the powerful sound created by a group of women who had never sung together before. Quite a few had never sung in a group before and it was heartwarming to see how much they loved the experience.”

- Delena (local conductor)

ABOUT THE HOUSE

The House that Dan Built supports girls and women to find their voice. Established in 2015, The House ensemble of young female vocalists has been showcased at the Tokyo Festival, Venice Biennale and venues around regional and metropolitan Australia. Through partnerships and presentations, The House is forging a reputation as one of Australia's leading women's vocal ensembles.

The House creates and develops works with two clear goals:

1. To create vocal performances championed by festivals, venues and events synonymous with artistic excellence.
2. To unearth and propel the next generation of female composers and songwriters.
